THE BIG SUBURBAN HANDICAP

Much Speculation Among Race-Goers as to Probable Outcome of Race.

By J. S. A. MACDONALD.

NEW YORK, June 5.—In the old days used to be "Snapper" Garrison and ed Tarrel at each other's throats in a rec war of jockey rivalry. Just now tropolitan race-goers are looking on an intensely interesting fight for su-mount on Barbary Belle, but a half hour later the adherents of Miller had a charine to laugh back at the followers of Radtke, for Miller on Mintla clearly outgenerated the Rainey jockey on Entre 'n a stretch duel which brought 10,00 racegoers to foot. From now on the striving of these star jockeys will stand as one of the big side-lights of the routine of Yacing hereabouts.

of racing from San Francisco, Val., to New York, N. Y., are just now rubbing their eyes and bethinking themselves of the probable outcome of the momentous struggie. A Tokalon may win the Suburban handleap this year, for, like, the recent Brooklyn Handleap, the field for the approaching Suburban Handleap is distinctively meager in quality, and likely as not a rank outside selling plater may come on after the class of horses have fought themselves into the ground, and win by a fluke.

There you have the sum and substance of Tokalon, a 25 to 1 shot, winning the 20,000 Brooklyn Handleap on May 21 at Gravesend. Do not scout the possibility of the very same thing occurring in the Suburban Handleap—in fact the remembrance of Tokalon is going to make thousands of spectators chance a fiver on the tail-end choices in whatever little future betting may be had on the race—"little future betting may be had on the race—"little future betting" being sald advisedly, since the postal authorities at Washington D. C., have given the projectors of the "Rid" Weller future book on the Brooklyn Handleap to understaid that no further transmission of bets on horse races through the mails will be tolerated.

The Suburhan Handleap, like the Brooklyn Handleap, is worth $20,000, this amount of money being divided among the owners of the first three horses. These fixtures are two of a trio, the Brighton handleap, the richest of them sall, it being $25,000 in value, standing as third of the series. They are at a mile and a quarter for horses, three-year-olds and up, the Brooklyn Jockey Club's Spring meeting at Gravesend, the Suburhan Handleap doing the same service for the mid-summer meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay, and the Brighton Handleap lending the hurrah effect on the first day of the always welcome meeting at Brighten Handleap lending the hurrah effect on the first day of the always welcome meeting at Brighten handleap.

High School Graduates to Hear Dr. F. L. McFaden Thursday Night.

Richmond will witness two important commencement exercises this week—that of Richmond College and that of the Richmond High School.

The exercises at Richmond College will begin to-night with the delivery of the baccalaugeate sermon by Rev. R. P. Johnson, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, in New York City, of which Mr. Rockefeller is a member, and will continue through Wednesday. There will be a number of visiting alumni present, and the occasion will be marked by many reunions of the members of some of the older classes that have now gone down in history. A large crowd will be present to-night, as the college exercises always excite deepest interest in the citizens of Richmond, to whom the welfare of the institution is very dear to heart.

them. They will appear in caps and gowns. The faculty and trustees will occupy seats with the graduates. In-yited ministers will sit upon the platvited ministers will sit upon the plat-form. The music will be under the di-rection of the First Baptist Church choir.

By Fall, Returns Home.

Mrs. L. V. Angus, who was at first thought to have been fatally hurt by falling down a flight of steps in Miller and Rhoads's department store, and receiving a fracturel skull and other injuries two weeks ago, has recovered to such an extent that she was able to cleave the Memorial Hospital yesterday.

The doctors thought at first that even if she did recover that she would be paralyzed for the rest of her life, but now they are oven hopeful that the aged lady will recover from that also.

The doctors at the hospital were at first afraid that several complications would be sure to develop, but, in spite of her severe injuries, Mrs. Angus began improving steadily shortly after the accident.

Speaking from the bench of the Hustings Court yesterday morning, Judge B.
B. Witt made a charge to several barkeepers he had summoned which will be watched with much interest by those who want to see the Sunday selling of liquor stopped. He told the saloon-owners that if they allowed people to congregate around any entrances that might lend to their places of business on a Sunday, that this would be a good sign of their selling liquor on that day and that they must suffer the consequences.
The judge said he would see that the police kopt strict eyes on all such alleys and entrances.

TELEGRAM TO BISHOP TUCKER

Rev. G. W. Painter Delivers Address, and Mr. T. W. Mahood is Historian.

The Otey Battery survivors held their annual banquet and outling yesterday at the old pumphouse and onjoyed themselves as only old soldiers can. There was many a brave deed recounted, old lokes were resurrected and repeated and heard with the same old zest, and stories of the camp and field were recited with a vividness that betokened the memory that never learns to fall. For the day the veterans were young again; they are and drank with the heartiness and relish of youth, and in the merry laughter and song that would break from their lips rang the same tone that cheered the path to victory in the days before Appomattox.

Rev. G. W. Painter delivered the speech of the day. His address was delightfully flavored with war-like reminiscences and with the hope that the reminion of the States has brought. Mr. F. W. Mahood was the historian, and his paper on the history of the old hattery was heard with the deepest interest.
